

National Postgraduate Training Days 2009–10

A series of specialist training days for new postgraduates at the British Library

Come to one of our tailored days to learn more about the British Library's collections, meet our curators, and take part in a variety of specialist sessions and talks related to your research

The British Library is offering new postgraduates the opportunity to attend training days in English, History, Social Sciences, Modern Foreign Languages and Art and Design in partnership with academic centres of excellence. These specially tailored days of talks, workshops, discussions and networking opportunities combine a general introduction to the Library with special sessions on subject specific material. Researchers will have the opportunity to learn about all aspects of the British Library collections, from oral history recordings to modern literary manuscripts and ephemera through a variety of sessions with curators.

CHOOSE FROM THE FOLLOWING

13 October 2009	English (Medieval – 18th Century)
3 November 2009	Social Sciences
1 December 2009	Art and Design
8 December 2009	History (19th – 21st Century)
1 February 2010	English (19th – 21st Century)
9 February 2010	History (Medieval – 18th Century)
29 March 2010	Modern Foreign Languages

BOOKING

Price – free

To ensure the scheme is accessible to research postgraduates across the UK, there are also a limited number of travel bursaries available to students living outside London.

For more information about any of these training days or to book your place, please visit www.bl.uk/HEtrainingdays

Please note Places are limited to new postgraduate researchers

Partners

1994 group >

Established to promote excellence in university research and teaching

Arts & Humanities
Research Council

School of Advanced Study
INSTITUTE OF ENGLISH STUDIES
University of London

