

Our aims

- Provide a voice for professional and practice-led doctoral research at national and international levels
- Seek to make connections between professional practice, professional organisations and higher education through research and networking activity
- Disseminate good practice and to raise issues regarding research using a quarterly newsletter format
- Continue to develop and use a website for the special interest group, hosted by Middlesex University
- Open further debate regarding the continued development of the professional doctorate qualification: What are the issues for you?
